

Central Africa. Crises, Reform and Reconstruction

The papers in the collection are divided into two main areas: nation building and regional integration: problems and prospects; and the weird wind of democratisation and governance. Some examples of topics covered are: the effects of the foreign debt burden on saving ratios in the CEMAC Zone; the Nepad initiative as a basis for fostering economic recovery in the CEMAC Zone; foreign states elites and the DRC conflicts 1997- 2002; traumas, memories and modern politics in Central Africa; and human rights abuses in the Central Africa sub-region: the case of children.
