

Tad Has A New Hat: A childrens phonics book for alternative families (Phonics For Us 1)

Tad Has a New Hat is a story about a boy who ventures off to the big city with his dads for a birthday adventure. Come laugh with his family as they discover the many hats there are to choose from...and help your child learn about the short a sound in the process! Phonics For Us! is a series of childrens phonics books written for alternative families. At We Live Here Too Publishing, we believe that children not only need to see their families represented in the books they read, but also to see them represented within the context of everyday childhood actions and behaviors. Our books are about going to the store, or having a birthday, or getting a new pet...and alternative families simply pop up within the context of that larger story. Learning to read is one of the most important things our children will ever do. We believe strongly that those early experiences shape future reading behavior. It is absolutely critical, then, that those early experiences be positive. Seeing families like their own reflected in their phonics primers is one way to help create that experience.
