Not illustrated. 1908 Excerpt: ...the clutch has been held out from the time the throttle was closed, the gear will pass through the second speed into neutral position without noise. To reverse bring forward speed lever into neutral position, release, clutch, push reverse (shortest) lever into extreme forward position and handle motor and clutch as before. Always bring reverse lever to rear position before going ahead again. Carburetor Adjust-best carburettor adjustment drive car on ment. second speed with motor speeded up on about two-thirds throttle and spark, and after closing the cold air opening in center of dash move lever above spark coil to right (air) and left (gasoline) until the position is found at which the best results are obtained. Now do the same with the cold air slide. Under normal conditions at the factory the carburettor is adjusted so as to give best results with the bent lever almost over to air and the cold air slide almost closed. This gives the user the widest possible range from a mixture almost too rich to ignite, shooting volumes of black smoke from the muffler, to such a weak mixture on account of the large quantity of air that the muffler-will be popping like a regiment of infantry with occasional spitting through the cold air pipe.
