

The Red Bogals (Secret Forces Book 2)

Josh has been spending some time with his dad in Hawaii. Its their last day together and Joshs dad decides to make the most of it and takes Josh on a picnic he will never forget. When they head out on the small boat to explore the islands Josh is elated.

After a while they find what they believe to be an ideal island to stop on for their lunch. But all is not what it seems and before long they find themselves in real trouble. Connections are made through the earth and what happens in one part of the world has consequences in the opposite side. Lives are at stake and choices must be made. Is one life more precious than another? Will Josh and his dad make it off the island alive?
