

On Vowel Alliteration in the Old Germanic Languages (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from On Vowel Alliteration in the Old Germanic Languages I wish in this place to offer my warmest thanks to Professor Johannson for the original suggestion of an enquiry into vocalic alliteration, for his constant advice in the preparation of this work, and, above all, for the stimulating instruction received from him in my student years. I am also especially indebted to Professor Jiriczek for his friendly advice and for critical suggestions. Finally, I would wish to express my gratitude to Professor Brenner for his suggestions, and to Professors Noreen and Brate and Mr. Burgel-Godwin for their help with certain Old Norse etymologies.
